Additional foreign news.

Victor Emanuel had issued a stirring manifesto to the Italians. He recapitulates the effect of a first of war on Italy, and reiterates that for supreme reasons the noble province of Venetia was then allowed to remain in the hands of the Austrians, that favorable opportunity has now arrived to accomplish the independence of Venetia from Austrian rule. He charges the Austrian with having asspired hostile and threatening attitude on Italian frontiers, to disturb the pacific on Italian frontiers, to disturb the pacific task of reorganization in Italy; he replied by again taking up arms; but, nevertheless, showed his desire for peace by accepting a proposal for conference. Austria having refused affords fresh proof; if she confides in her strength she does not rely equally upon the goodness of her cause and of her right. The manifesto concludes with a patriotic declaration of assurance that Italy has the sympathy of Europe, and hands over the government of the State to the Prince of Gaeta and Pastrinaugo of Palleatro of Gaeta and Pastringuige of Pailestro

UNITED STATES BRANCH MINT FOR CARson CITY, NEVADA.—The design for this building, by A. B. Mullet, Esq., supervising architect for the Treasury Department, has been completed, and adopted, as well it might be, combining as it does all the requisite accommodations, conveniently arranged, of an excellent and appropriate style, and will be economi cal and durable in construction.

The style is a modified Italian, with narrow circular headed windows, coupled on the front, and bracketed cornice. It is of stone, the walls cyclopean. or irregular stones, with a base and or irregular stones, with a base and belt-course, porch, steps, quoined angles, window-dressings, &c., of dressed stone. Its entire length is 76 feet 6 inches, by a mean breadth of 60 feet.—A centre of 51 feet breadth, (with entrance porch of 24 by 15 feet,) pedimented; the windows in pairs. The part is surmounted by a square observpart is surmounted by a square observatory, 13 feet above the pediment, and lit by four narrow circular-headed win dows, in keeping with those below.— The building is 35 feet in height to cor-nice, and 46 feet to apex of the pedi-

The plans show a basement, skilfully devised for the accommedation of the heating apparatus, fuel, storage-rooms, &c. The principal floor is conveniently laid off into sumerling and melting apartments, furnaces, vaults, coining and weighing rooms, and offices of the coiner, treasurer, &c. A large engine-room in the reas. The second floor has the refinery or a large room occupying nearly one-half the space of the central building, and superintendent's and assayer's offices, a cabinet, assay-room, store-rooms, clerk's and watchmen's rooms, and all necessary conveniences. The general a pearance of the elevation is pleasing though so plain, and the proportions are good, and, altogether, may be said to represent a neat, substantial, and appropriate building.—Washington Chropicle, 13th ult
